Spartan Mechanical, an HVAC contractor based in Bedford, IN, is happy to announce that they have expanded their service area to include Bloomington, IN. They provide professional air conditioning repair and installation services in Bedford and Bloomington and they are a proud dealer of York HVAC systems. And they are always ready to provide customers with a free estimate for the HVAC system repair or installation that is needed.

They provide various kinds of services, including: residential HVAC services; commercial HVAC services; refrigeration services; HVAC maintenance services; mini-split systems services; gas line services; services for water heaters; backflow services; and restaurant equipment repair and installation services.

For residential HVAC systems, they can handle a range of services from simple repairs to major installations for heating and cooling needs. They will send highly-skilled technicians to the home or property to assess the problem and then determine the best solution. They will present this particular solution to the customer complete with the various details to ensure that there will be no hidden repairs or costs.

They also offer services for commercial HVAC systems. Businesses have to be on the look out for five signs that may indicate the need for commercial AC repair. These are: high cooling bills; loud and unusual noises; uneven temperatures; bad odors; and short cycling. And there are four signs that a commercial air conditioning unit may need to be replaced. These include: an AC unit that is 15 to 20 years old; frequent repairs; increased energy costs; and new technologies.

This HVAC contractor in Bloomington, IN, can also offer refrigeration repair and installation services. There are a number of signs to look out for that indicate it may be time for a commercial refrigeration repair or checkup. These include: the refrigerator not cooling properly; leaking water; fluid in the fresh food compartments; the refrigerator has stopped running; too much frost; and strange noises in the refrigerator.

They also offer HVAC maintenance services to ensure that customers will not have to face very expensive repairs. To make sure that costly repairs are avoided, they have developed their VIP Warrior Policy, which is a maintenance plan that will enhance the home or building's comfort systems while saving money on cooling and heating costs and preventing excessive future HVAC repair costs. When customers sign up for the VIP Warrior Policy, they get several privileges, such as: up to 47 points tune-up; two HVAC safety/ maintenance inspections per year; optimized energy efficiency; no need to pay premium charge; 24 hour response time; extended life of equipment; priority service; periodic specials and promos; written HVAC maintenance contract; multi-year unit discount; fully transferable policy; and no overtime or after hours rates.

They also offer services for ductless mini-split systems, which function like a regular air conditioner except that they don't require air ducts. A mini split has two primary components: an outdoor compressor / condenser, and an indoor air handling unit. A conduit that contains the refrigerant tubing, power cable, suction tubing, and a condensate drain, connects the outdoor and indoor units. A ductless system offers several advantages, such as: size; flexibility; ease of installation; energy efficiency; great design; and improved safety.
