

Sydney Conveyancing Company Wants to Serve More First Time Property Purchasers

December 21, 2022

December 21, 2022 -
NSW-based conveyancing firm, LEAD Conveyancing Sydney, announced on Friday that their office door is always open for people that do not have any conveyancing transactions before in their lives. The firm encourages people, especially first-home buyers, to hire a licensed conveyancer to ensure a seamless transaction from the pre-signing contract up to the settlement. For more information about LEAD Conveyancing Sydney, visit their official website.

The well-established conveyancing firm stated they noticed the sudden increase in first-time property buyers and sellers in NSW and other states of Australia. Having constant eyes on the industry they worked in, they recognised that the sudden change had been happening for many months since June. They were happy that more young families could save enough funds to build their own homes. To celebrate, they want to be an instrument in enabling families to acquire their dream homes.

Aside from buyers' conveyancing services, the company also offers services for real estate property sellers and ownership transfers. They also provide legal assistance in contract drafting and review for an affordable price. The reason for expressing their interest in helping first-time buyers stems from feeling fulfilled whenever they can settle a transaction for people without their own homes. They take pride in doing the right thing for people who need to learn how property conveyancing works.

LEAD Conveyancing Sydney assisted more than a thousand first-home buyers throughout their existence based on their kept record of their clients, more than three-fifths of their whole clients. The record showed that it was always an occurrence every year that more purchasers hire conveyancers than property sellers. Purchasers buy different properties like houses, apartments and vacant land. The firm always goes beyond the extra mile to help first-time buyers.

Licensed Conveyancing Solicitor Sherry Chen, one of the firm's Senior Lawyers, stated that the company staff enjoys assisting first-home buyers because they once did not know anything about conveyancing. "Serving first-home buyers is like helping our former selves, the University student version of ourselves, to be exact. People like them remind us how far we have come in this industry. Reliving that moment through them is a great way to always humble ourselves. Apart from that, we genuinely love helping people, not just first-time property buyers. We are in this industry because we are compassionate and helpful people. I am proud to say that our company comprises kind-hearted and hardworking people."

LEAD Conveyancing Sydney has proven to deliver quality conveyancing services to any client. They guarantee a smooth transaction whether the client is a buyer or a seller. They believe they can consistently achieve a good outcome if they build relationships and trust with their customers. The firm assures that they are not just after its clients' hard-earned money, and they genuinely want to help better people's lives in Australia. They always find ways to make the transactions as straightforward as possible.
