Biography
 During the day, DJ NPO is an event business owner, but he is mostly recognized as one of the few Nashville style DJs in the New England area. NPO (No Party's Over) started as a part time high school DJ gradually making his way to opening for a local band at Toby Keith's Bar Gillette Stadium. Upon the bar closing their doors, he has now taken over the resident DJ position at Six String Grill & Stage. Here he has opened for multiple local and national country artists over the past 3 years.
 NPO's passion for music and ability to perform has helped him build a long list of clients and a reputation as New England's party DJ.
