January 09, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

iFoam Insulation is helping homeowners and business owners in Houston improve their property's energy efficiency by up to 30% by providing high-quality spray foam installation services. The company is urging the city's residents to find out more about how it can help them drastically reduce their energy bills along with offering several other benefits.

Spray foam insulation has been picking up traction over the last few decades for several reasons. Traditional forms of home insulation such as fiberglass batt or loose fill have many drawbacks including poor coverage of the corners and crevices that make up a property's construction, their tendency to break down, loosen, and detach from the installed surfaces, and comparatively lower insulation capability.

Spray foam insulation solves all of these problems. Since it is a chemical mixture that expands when active, it can properly fill every nook and cranny within the walls of a home or commercial building and adhere to it due to its sticky nature. Moreover, since the resulting material is porous with a cell-like structure filled with air gaps, it offers much better insulation capabilities.

Installing spray foam insulation not only improves a property's ability to conserve temperatures, but it also filters organic particulate matter that can cause seasonal allergies, improves indoor air quality, and reduces the growth of mold. All of these benefits have led to spray foam insulation's rapid adoption in the construction industry. In 2008, it only made up 3% of all new home insulations. In 2019, the Annual Builder Practices Survey found that spray foam was being used in 11% of new homes in San Francisco.

iFoam Insulation is a leader in the spray foam industry. It has received media coverage for its high-quality services from major online and TV publications including Magnolia Network, Prime Video, Discovery, and HGTV. The company, which franchises its expertise and technological advantages to providers all over the country, offers several services including spray foam insulation, blown-in insulation, residential attic retrofit, residential crawlspace retrofit, new residential construction, insulation removal, air sealing, and more. The company has now also established itself as a premium spray foam insulation contractor in Southeast Houston Texas by partnering with Dickinson Insulation Contractors.

Dickinson Insulation Contractors has received five-star reviews from local Houston homeowners and commercial and industrial property owners. One of the reviews on its Google Business Profile says, "Fritz and iFoam Insulation of SE Houston provides top-notch customer service, fair pricing, and a commitment to excellence."

Another reviewer recounted their experience with iFoam Insulation by saying, "iFOAM provided excellent spray foam insulation in the building under our house on stilts. Other spray foam contractors left us dissatisfied at best. Their crew was super personable. The whole building was beautifully insulated, and the area was cleaned up spotless in a matter of a few hours. This company's customer service is top-notch. After spraying on Friday, they showed up on Monday to make sure we were satisfied. We recommend them 100%. We will be hiring this fabulous company again soon!"

The spokesperson for iFoam Insulation Southeast Houston talks about the advantages that spray foam insulation offers by saying, "We are aware that you are undoubtedly concerned about your home or property's heating and cooling power consumption, especially after the 2021 Texas power crisis that coincided during a cold snap. Despite being slightly more costly compared to traditional insulation methods, spray foam is still one of the most cost-effective ways of fighting your rising energy bills. Spray foam lasts a long time, saving you thousands of dollars over the lifespan of your home. Our team of Houston spray foam insulation experts has years of training and experience and access to the most top-of-the-line equipment to permanently boost your home's energy efficiency, comfort, and safety, whether you choose open-cell or closed-cell insulation."

Readers in Houston can contact iFoam Insulation at (281) 436-4339 from Monday to Saturday between 9 AM and 6 PM to set up an appointment or to get a free quote for its spray foam insulation services.
