

Queens Work Injury Lawyer Keetick L. Sanchez Discusses The Limitations of Workers? Compensation Benefits

December 27, 2022

JACKSON HEIGHTS, NY - December 27, 2022 -
Queens work injury lawyer Keetick L. Sanchez (https://accidentlawyer-queens.com/work-injury-lawyer/) releases a new article that discusses workers' compensation benefits and how to file a claim after an injury at work. The lawyer mentions that workplace accidents can impact someone?s life significantly and could cause them to not be able to provide for their loved ones.

According to the new article from the Queens work injury lawyer, there are benefits available to victims of workplace accidents. While financial compensation is available for the victims, it is often advised to seek the help of an experienced work injury lawyer in order to receive the best compensation possible.

Attorney Keetick L. Sanchez also says, ?After a workplace accident, there are two possible sources of compensation for your injuries. These are through a workers? compensation claim or a personal injury lawsuit. Unfortunately, these are not always easy to navigate on your own without a skilled lawyer.?

In the article, attorney Sanchez explains the limitations of workers? compensation benefits. The lawyer says that while the victim is entitled to receive their benefits, they also waive the right to hold their employer accountable for any of their injuries and damages. In addition to that, they will also be required to seek treatment from a medical provider that is approved by the Workers? Compensation Board and not their own physician.

Furthermore, work injury lawyer Keetick Sanchez says that someone may be compensated for their injuries, medical costs, or even family death benefits in the case of a fatality. However, workers? compensation benefits will not be able to cover non-economic costs such as pain and suffering or emotional distress.

The lawyer also adds that if someone is injured at work, they would want to pursue all the possible sources of compensation for their injuries. If the employer has valid workers? compensation insurance in place, the victim may not be able to file a personal injury lawsuit against them. However, if the employer doesn?t or if the accident was caused by a third party, then it is possible to file a personal injury lawsuit.

Lastly, the lawyer emphasizes that if someone is involved in a workplace accident, it is important that they seek the help of an experienced work injury lawyer to help them receive their compensation.
