Houston, Texas ? A company well known in Houston and its suburbs for its high-quality tree services only, Houston Tree Service Experts, earlier today shared more information about the company not known by most homeowners. According to the CEO, sharing a few more details will help homeowners understand Houston Tree Service Experts better.

"Ask any homeowner that has ever worked with Houston Tree Service Experts what they know about the company," said the CEO. "If the answer goes deeper than a good tree care company, most probably the homeowner has a relative working for the company. Although, the company's main goal is to make homeowners happy, does this sound right? That's a no, and this is why Houston Tree Service Experts wants to share more information with its clients."

The CEO revealed that Houston Tree Service Experts had turned 20 and shared the most significant success they've had so far.

"Houston Tree Service Experts has been in the industry for exactly 20 years now," revealed the CEO. "The team ought to be celebrating a two-decade anniversary today, but they are out there working. That shows how much the team is invested in homeowners' happiness."

"The 20-year journey has had its ups and downs," said the CEO. "In the beginning, the company experienced the worst. It had no clients. It would go for 7 days without a single request, and yet the trees around were not doing so well. The company assumed that homeowners didn't know the importance of taking care of trees, which turned out to be true. After starting campaigns to educate people on the importance of trees, the requests shot from less than 2 requests to more than 14 requests in a week almost immediately. That was a big motivation.?"

?As time went by,? added the CEO, ?Houston Tree Service Experts was able to cross the city boundaries and reach homeowners in the entire neighborhood. That, so far, has been the biggest achievement the company has achieved."

The CEO then revealed that the company has an ISA certification. He also noted that all employees are also ISA certified.

"Nothing feels better than being recognized by those above you," stated the CEO. "That was the feeling the company had when it got certified by ISA. It is even better. All Houston Tree Service Experts are ISA certified. Now, homeowners can tell why a lot of professionalism is seen whenever they are handling their trees."

"Additionally," added the CEO, "apart from employees being ISA certified, they have degrees in tree care-related courses. This is a major requirement before anyone becomes part of the company."

The CEO also stated that Houston Tree Service Experts provides all tree services.

"When a homeowner only uses Houston Tree Service Experts for tree trimming only and hasn't seen it do other procedures elsewhere," said the CEO, "it is only human to assume that, that is the only service offered at Houston Tree Service Experts. This is, however, not true, as Houston Tree Service Experts is open for all services as long as they are tree and shrub related."

The CEO revealed that Houston Tree Service Experts also has a research team.

"In an era where new tree infections emerge daily?blame it on human activities," said the CEO, "a research team is a major requirement in every real tree care company. Houston Tree Service Experts is lucky to have a team that works day and night to make sure that no tree loses to the strange infections."

In the end, the CEO noted that more fun facts would be shared through its Google site and urged homeowners to make their bookings with the company.

"Those are just a few things about the company that homeowners ought to know," said the CEO. "More of these will be shared on the Houston Tree Service Experts' Google Site soon. While they wait for more, it would be wise for the homeowners in Houston and its suburbs, to contact Houston Tree Service Experts for tree care appointments."
