Bluffton, SC Bluffton-based dentist Off-Island Dental Care offers expert advice on choosing an effective dental solution to restore someone's beautiful smile.

On top of the dental professional's list is its Dental Bridge procedure. Off-Island Dental says a traditional bridge replaces a missing tooth or teeth with an artificial one. The false teeth are supported by metal posts anchored into adjacent teeth. It can be permanently attached to the teeth and is made to look natural.

Those who do not want a permanent bridge can also opt for a removable type. This type of bridge is attached to the teeth with clasps or precision attachments so it can be taken out and cleaned. Off-Island Dental says the traditional bridge is less invasive than other dental procedures. It does not require oral surgery but relies on metal posts anchored on the teeth.

Another solution for those who have already lost teeth or gum tissue, according to Off-Island Dental Care, is dentures. It is best for those with no teeth to support a fixed bridge. In addition, dentures are an option for those who value convenience because they may be removed at any time.

Meanwhile, Bluffton's Trusted Family and Cosmetic Dentist says the best way to determine the optimal treatment for teeth issues is still through a dental consultation. Before picking between bridges and dentures, Off-Island Dental states that a dentist needs to assess the client's needs, lifestyle, and preferences.

Bluffton's top dentist, Dr. Michael D. Langehans, states, "The greatest treatment is the one that preserves oral health, restores mouth function, and improves aesthetics."
