Rancho Cucamonga, California - January 04, 2023 -
Rancho Cucamonga, California ? After a homeowner in Rancho Cucamonga, James, noticed some strange features on his trees, he contacted Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga for assistance.

"My wife was doing a small inspection of the yard when she noticed some trees had red spots on the branches," said James. "Being a family that is all about protecting the environment and keeping trees healthy, the red spots were enough to raise the alarm. Therefore, when my wife explained what she had seen, we immediately contacted Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga."

James revealed that his family had been using Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga for quite a long time.

"My family has been using Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga for over 20 years," said James. "Throughout the 20 years, the company has never disappointed us. So anytime we see something strange in the yard, we call Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga for immediate assistance."

"After giving a detailed explanation to the Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga team," said James, "they claimed that the red spots were symptoms of a very dangerous pest, which, if not controlled, the results would not be so pleasing. Knowing the value of the trees in my yard, I requested the team to help save them."

The Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga team reportedly took around 20 minutes to arrive at James's home.

"Twenty minutes after requesting the team to come," said James, "they had arrived. They quickly inspected the yard and then went ahead to work on the trees."

"They began by pruning and trimming the trees, then cleaned the space," revealed James. "Afterward, the team sprayed the trees."

"Before leaving," continued James, "the team leader handed over a piece of paper with the service cost. As usual, the price was low, although we were expecting it to be a bit higher because, according to what they said, the pest needed a strong pesticide to reoccurrence."

Reportedly, the Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga pest control team returned two weeks later to respray the trees.

"Since the trees were highly infested," noted James, "the Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga pest control team said that they would come to repeat the spraying procedure after two weeks."

"Faithful to their word," continued James, "the Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga pest control team returned after two weeks. The number of red spots had already started decreasing. They went ahead and sprayed the trees."

"Surprisingly," said James, "this time, we didn't pay even a single cent. On asking, the Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga team said that the company had included the second visit in the first service fee."

James revealed that it took exactly seven days for the pests to disappear after the second spray. He also confirmed that his trees are still doing well.

"My wife was very keen on tracking the progress," said James. "Every morning, she had to go and confirm if the pesticide worked."

"One week later," said James, "the trees had returned to their normal state. The pests had completely disappeared and left no marks on the trees."

James added that one of the reasons he has been using the services offered by Tree Service Experts Rancho Cucamonga is their effectiveness in fixing all types of tree problems. He also added that he was planning a tree pruning procedure with the company as some of his trees were losing their aesthetic appeal because of overgrown branches.
