The company also sets up its wide range of inflatables and party rentals at school festivals, church events, and corporate or business functions.

For the grownups, Bouncing Betty Bounce Houses provides the equipment needed for exciting

The company's founder, Derek Hengst, talks about its mission by saying, "As a current active-duty Marine officer married to a registered nurse with four amazing kids, we recognize the need for families to spend quality time together. Events such as birthdays or anniversaries are as great an opportunity as any to pull out all the stops and bond with those we care about the most. Our goal is to facilitate this bonding by bringing fun and entertainment to your friends, family, or community at a reasonable and affordable price. Head over to our website to see pictures of our inflatables and party rentals in action at the many events we have provided rentals for over the years in Jacksonville."

Bouncing Betty Bounce Houses can help Jacksonville residents set up their party at a public location by leveraging its experience working with the Parks and Recreation Department and the Onslow Chamber of Commerce. The Jacksonville party rental company will work with the customer to plan for and acquire all the equipment and clearances they need to organize their event at the top parks in the city, including Richard Ray Park, Northeast Creek Park, and Sturgeon City Park.

Derek Hengst talks about his company's dedication to safety by saying, "We realize that in the inflatable party rental business, quality begins with safety. During our involved and focused setup process, we go over all the recommended safety precautions to ensure our inflatables are completely safe for all the young ones who will soon be bouncing around on them. Furthermore, after every rental, the returned equipment is inspected for damage and thoroughly cleaned, sanitized, and, if necessary, repaired before being handed over to the next customer. We also make available online our comprehensive bounce house and inflatable checklist for you to browse through so that you can examine for yourself just how meticulous our operations are."
