December 08, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

As part of an overall winterization plan for consumers, D&M Service Co Inc. based in Louisville, KY, has announced the availability of a range of furnace repair services. The company offers a range of services that are designed to help consumers prepare for winter, and lower overall furnace repair costs.

Darrel Dutschke, a spokesperson for the company, states, "Our goal with this range of services is to help homeowners to ultimately lower their winter heating costs, and we can do that by ensuring that their furnace is in tip top shape before the cold weather arrives. Regular maintenance will also help to keep costs down."

D & M Service Co Inc provides information to consumers about how to keep furnaces operating more efficiently in order to keep energy costs lower. Dutschke states, "It's about keeping your family warm but doing so without completely breaking the bank." He says that the company can evaluate consumer furnaces to determine what may need to be replaced or repaired prior to colder weather, which can help to save money on heating costs.

Dutschke says that regular maintenance is the best way to keep energy costs down during the colder months, and that the company's furnace repair services will assist homeowners in keeping their homes warm and lowering costs at the same time. He urges homeowners who have not had their furnaces inspected for quite some time to give the company a call and take advantage of the new range of services that they offer.

The company will perform an initial inspection, determining anything that needs to be replaced or repaired, and then offer a quote for services to customers to give them an idea of what they can expect. They provide a free service call and free quotes for services on furnaces as well as air conditioning repairs and replacements.

D&M also provides emergency services to customers to repair or replace furnaces that are not working, and they are available 24 hours a day and 7 days a week for emergency repairs.
