Successful business people become successful by thinking ahead, looking to the future, seeing opportunities and making the very best decisions based on research and their sharp entrepreneurial instincts. Many in this group find that their research and entrepreneurial instincts are leading them to Cyprus, an island which is rapidly becoming one of the major business centres in Europe. The island has seen a great deal of investment, and a number of companies have opened on the island in recent years.

Global Serve Consultants says, ?There are several factors that make Cyprus such an inviting proposition. For those exploring Cyprus company formation from English speaking countries, the fact that English is widely spoken, and used within legal documentation, is a distinct advantage. At the same time, Russian is also found in professional and the retail sector as well as in financial and tourist sector. There are also some highly lucrative tax incentives for those building their business ventures in Cyprus, not least of which is the incredibly low rate of corporation tax, the most generous level of corporation tax in all of the European Union at just 12.5%, as well the tax exemptions to capital gains and dividends received. Cyprus also maintains many double tax treaties, which of course brings even more tax benefits to businesses. Additionally, Cyprus has an excellent legal system based on the Common Law System of UK and experienced, efficient commercial banking.?
