Brickandmobile.com, a mobile marketing company based in of Toronto, Ontario, has announced their newest efforts in white label mobile marketing. The company is headed by Kevin Zicherman, CEO and founder of Brick Mobile, who has had years of experience in the website optimization market in regards to bringing online business into the world of mobile phones and tablets.

Zicherman has claimed that through his mobile marketing expertise he can help startup companies and entrepreneurs earn a seven figure income in 12 months. His latest endeavor in white label mobile marketing has helped businesses expand into the mobile website industry and rebrand this service without the need to create the infrastructure and coding for themselves.

BrickandMobile.com offers a variety of mobile marketing solutions for small and growing businesses, including free training from their website in subjects, such as launching a business, webinars for getting started in mobile marketing, and webinars on white label marketing, among others. CEO Kevin Zicherman also offers various products with a clear cut price outline for interested clients.

The most affordable package offered by BrickandMobile.com starts at $37 a month as a starter package to become introduced to the products and features. This includes Mobile CMS access, 5 mobile websites, the ability to create an unlimited number of demo sites, training that is completed in the form of step-by-step tutorials, and the marketing materials required to get going. Following this, the entrepreneur package is $97 per month and includes all of the same features, plus an additional 15 mobile websites, access to a special members area and Facebook page, and sales workshops that provide ongoing training. This package can be tried over a period of 7 days at no cost to the business or individual.

BrickandMobile.com also supplies a white label mobile marketing package for $197 per month; this offers users the ability to operate on a custom branded platform with many of the above-mentioned features, plus a couple of additional features. This package includes 100 mobile websites, administrative access to a client account, access to services through PC or mobile device, and discounts for bulk orders. Potential users who are unsure which package to use are encouraged to watch the short video available on the company site which references the benefits of each package.

Kevin Zicherman has made it clear through his 100% customer satisfaction guarantee that white label mobile marketing clients will be impressed with their services or can cancel within 30 days and keep all of the marketing materials provided by Brick and Mobile as a free gift. New users are also given the opportunity to receive an invite to a new mobile business orientation webinar, and other special services provided to clients of the business.
