Super affiliate duo Bren & Mike are happy to announce that they continue to be impressed with the Kalatu blogging platform. Their original review of Kalatu came out some time ago, at which point they had only just started using it themselves. They were incredibly impressed with the platform's many opportunities and capabilities but wanted to wait with providing a final verdict until they had used it for some time. They now have, and their opinion has only improved.

Mike Marko himself says: "We loved the Kalatu platform from the moment it was released and we have yet to be disappointed. It seems like they are adding new features all the time, and each of these features just makes the platform more user friendly and powerful. We love it!"

Over the past few months, a number of new features have been added. These include Instabuilder, which is designed to build capture pages and funnels. This is something the affiliate duo has been particularly impressed with. The blogging platform has also added a further 17 website themes and a lot more blogging tutorials. These tutorials will enable anyone to achieve far greater results with their blog.

Bren and Mike's personal Kalatu review shows that they use the platform themselves. In fact, the duo only recommend and train people on products that they use and would continue to use as well. This is a WordPress based blogging platform that doesn't have the many technology challenges, hassles and costs that people often experience when they want to build through WordPress.

"Kalatu makes it super easy to do all the important blogging stuff," adds Bren. "This includes finding the right theme for a business, choosing the right and most of all safest plugins, making sure a website is fully secure, backing it up so nothing gets lost, creating pages to capture new leads, and far more."

Bren and Mike also want to draw people's attention to Kalatu premium. This essentially takes the Kalatu blog to a whole new level. Premium has a number of benefits over the regular version. However, Bren & Mike understand that not everybody is able to go premium straight away.
