Sacramento, California - After the former CEO retired late last year, Sacramento Tree Professionals introduced the new CEO earlier today.

"The former CEO will always be remembered for his immersive contribution to the company's growth," said the Sacramento Tree Professionals manager. "He used all his ability and resources to ensure that Sacramento Tree Professionals was always running smoothly. His departure had a significant impact on all employees and management. However, that was the best thing Sacramento Tree Professionals could do for him because his old self needed to rest."

"After his retirement," continued the manager, "Sacramento Tree Professionals had to get someone to fill the gap. The search was successful, as today Sacramento Tree Professionals boasts the most competent CEO."

The manager revealed that the new CEO was working as the CEO of a different tree care company in Texas earlier.

"What makes Duygu Bagdu ?the new CEO?competent enough to take up the CEO role is his long experience working as the CEO of a different tree care company based in Houston, Texas," said the manager.

Reportedly, Duygu Bagdu had quit his former job to return to his family in Sacramento and was willing to take up jobs around Sacramento.

I am willing to invest my all to ensure that the whole team is impressed with what I offer the company."

"In my first 100 days in the office," continued Duygu Bagdu, "I'll take the employees in groups to Houston, in the company I was working with previously.
