Englewood Colorado's premier outdoor lighting company has clearly earned its reputation, as is made evident by reviews from satisfied clients. Esther V. says in her review, "The people at Blingle are the best! Kim in the office is great at communicating all details about the job, and the installers, well, I have absolutely nothing but great things to say about these two young men! They are respectful, diligent, fast, careful, and most of all, they are two of the friendliest young men ever! We have become friends over the past couple months. (Going to have them over for dinner!). I highly recommend them as a very reputable lighting company! We love our lights, and we are so very happy with how they work and look!"

In another review, Ken W. writes, "The process was really very nice. From the estimate, complete with photos to illustrate what the finished product would look like, to the installers who were punctual, polite and professional. I was so impressed with the care they showed and their attention to detail. Not to mention that the lights are super cool - way more flexible and way higher quality than anything I've purchased before. I'm very happy with my experience, and my wife loves the fact that I surprised her with a decorated house for the holidays! Thank you, Blingle!"
