Rancho Cordova, CA ? Rancho Cordova Tree Service Experts, owned and operated by Filson Bryant, is proud to announce expanding their services to include full-service tree planting. The move comes at a crucial time as the effects of deforestation continue to ravage the environment.

Deforestation is a significant problem globally, leading to loss of biodiversity, increased carbon emissions, and destruction of natural habitats. According to recent studies, approximately 18.7 million acres of forests are lost yearly, equivalent to 27 soccer fields every minute. In addition, trees play a vital role in maintaining a healthy ecosystem; they act as carbon sinks, help prevent soil erosion, provide habitats for wildlife, and regulate the climate.

With their new tree planting services, Rancho Cordova Tree Service Experts aims to help boost city greenery to combat pollution and preserve the environment. They plan to work with homeowners to provide a variety of the highest quality trees that can be found while helping donors to efficiently source and plant trees themselves.
