Marietta, CA ? Tree Service Marietta, a leading tree care provider based in Marietta, CA, has announced its implementation of sustainable tree care practices to reduce its environmental impact and protect urban trees while still providing top-notch services.

"At Tree Service Marietta, we believe that it is our responsibility to protect and preserve the environment," said Claire Veredico, CEO of Tree Service Marietta. "That's why we're rolling out more eco-friendly practices, incorporating renewable energy sources and focusing on pruning, trimming, and transplanting urban trees rather than removal."

Tree Service Marietta has a team of highly trained and certified arborists who can offer tailored tree maintenance solutions for all types of trees. These solutions include pruning to improve tree health and trimming to open trees to air circulation. In addition, the company is now offering tree transplanting services to ensure the long-term health of urban trees.

"We designed our services with sustainability in mind," said Veredico. "These practices enable us to simultaneously promote tree growth and reduce our environmental footprint. In addition, we want to bridge the gap between tree care providers and the technology needed to protect our urban forests."

The urban tree canopy is an essential component of a sustainable urban environment. Trees provide many benefits, including reducing air pollution, cooling the urban heat island effect, conserving energy, and enhancing community aesthetics. By implementing sustainable tree care practices, Tree Service Marietta is positively impacting the environment, the community, and the urban tree canopy.
