

Logan Conveyancer Announces Business Expansion

February 13, 2023

February 13, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

LEAD Conveyancing Logan announced that they would add new conveyancing services on the first day of February to serve more clients and maximise their profit. They will start to accept clients that seek legal assistance in reviewing or drafting a contract of sale and plan to transfer their property ownership to their family members or business partners.

In an official statement, the QLD-based conveyancing firm said they look forward to providing conveyancing services to people needing expert advice concerning the contract of the property they want to sell or buy. The firm will help buyers thoroughly review the contract to ensure that the transaction will favour them. On the other hand, the firm is willing to lend a hand to sellers if they want to draft the contract with the help of a licensed solicitor.

Aside from legal contract assistance, the firm will also open its doors to people looking for professionals who can help them legally transfer the ownership of their properties to their family members or business partners. The firm will help whether they will transfer to their deceased spouses, children or other companies. It is up to the transferors if they want to transfer their properties through gifting, standard selling or changing ownership share. Transfer conveyancing would also be available to married people that are separated.

Kristy Fletcher, LEAD Conveyancing Logan Senior Lawyer, and Solicitor stated that their staff are well-prepared to accept new clients needing one of their upcoming legal services. We read books, researched and studied hard to ensure we will not disappoint our clients. We carefully planned this business expansion and equipped ourselves with more than enough knowledge to exceed the needs of the people we will serve soon. Upgrading some of our technologies is one of the procedures we did to deliver a satisfactory service. We are excited to practice the new things we have learned during the past months; we commit to improving our conveyancing knowledge.

Before the inception of its new legal services, the firm offers only two assistance: seller conveyancing and buyer conveyancing. They expect a surge of clients at the start of February because of this business expansion. They guarantee an excellent output and ensure that the quality of their work will not change throughout the year. Business expansion is one of their plans for 2023, and one or two other plans will be executed monthly. Some of their plans for 2023 are joining online customer review platforms, upgrading their free conveyancing fee calculator and expanding their operations until the weekend.
