Dr. Jochen says, "It is always a pleasure to receive such kind words from our patients, but we always welcome any kind of feedback from our patients, whether good or bad, because it tells us if we are doing what we have sought to achieve, which is to provide always the best kind of service to our patients."

Sports therapy is one of the popular services provided by the chiropractor near me Beverly Hills athletes can rely on. Their team of extensively trained and knowledgeable health professionals can provide the appropriate service whether it is a sports injury or the athlete simply wants to achieve peak performance for the next event. Sports therapy may help in avoiding sports injuries, maximize athletic performance, or rehabilitate injuries. They take a multidimensional approach to sports medicine by combining different methods and strategies to restore the patients back to their pre-injury status and return to their daily tasks. Sports therapy can be useful for professional, collegiate, and high school athletes, including weekend warriors. Sports therapy may be provided for: shin splints; lower back pain; neck pain; tendonitis and bursitis; tennis elbow; shoulder impingement; and sprains and strains. Dr. Jochen and his team will be monitoring the patient's movements and techniques to determine the locations of the malfunctions. This approach will be able to enhance performance and prevent injury at the same time.

One of the key holistic healing methods they use is acupuncture. This healing method is based on traditional Chinese medicine (TCM) where healing is achieved through the alignment of the energy in the body. To achieve such an alignment, licensed acupuncturist Jainen Shin will insert sterilized needles into the skin of the patient at the proper depth at certain points of the body in order to realign the energy. Each needle is positioned and inserted into a specific meridian point, which is where energy collects and disperses to make sure that the energy flow in the body is appropriately placed in balance. Different kinds of conditions may be resolved by using acupuncture, including allergies, joint and lower back pain, headaches, sciatica, depression, and other conditions.

Established in 1994, Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center is set on helping patients achieve their wellness goals through the use of skills and expertise that make up the full wellness spectrum, such as massage therapy, acupuncture, cupping therapy, chiropractic care, and more. Dr. Stephen Jochen, D.C. heads this holistic chiropractic clinic and wellness center. Together, they develop a personalized holistic path for every patient that will enable them to have a pain-free lifestyle without resorting to prescription drugs or having to undergo invasive surgery. With over 20 years of experience, Dr. Jochen and his team can provide treatment for a wide range of health issues, including lower back pain, neck pain, including carpal tunnel syndrome. And they always apply a three-tiered approach to healing, which are: prevention and wellness; correction and recovery; and pain-free treatment strategies.
