J&M Tree Service Redlands, a leading provider of tree pruning services in the Redlands area, today announced the release of its latest guide on the science behind effective tree pruning. The guide outlines the essential steps and techniques that should be used to ensure healthy trees and shrubs.

The guide includes advice on when to prune and how often, the importance of selecting the right tools, and the importance of using the proper technique. It also provides detailed illustrations and diagrams to help readers understand how to carry out successful pruning tasks.

Specific topics covered include identifying which branches need removal, properly cutting branches, and understanding the natural growth patterns of trees. Pruning should be an essential part of any landscape design plan. Pruning helps to shape plants, control the size of trees and shrubs, and keep plants healthy by removing dead or diseased branches. It can also help improve the appearance of the yard or garden by increasing light penetration, controlling the direction of growth, and creating a good canopy.

The guide provides helpful advice on selecting proper pruning tools for the job. Depending on the pruning one does, various types of shears, loppers, saws, hedge clippers, and other specialty tools are available. The guide covers what tools to use and gives tips on how to properly care for them, such as sharpening blades after each use to ensure that they remain in good condition.

The guide also explores the pruning techniques available such as topping, thinning, cutting back, and shearing. Each method has its pros and cons, which are explained in detail to allow readers to make an informed decision based on their specific needs. Additionally, it provides helpful tips on when to prune ? including when trees are dormant during winter ? so that users know when to remove limbs without harming their health.

"Our goal with this guide is to educate people on the science behind proper tree pruning techniques," said Angelo. "We want to help people make informed decisions about how to care for their trees and ensure they stay healthy and beautiful for years to come."
