February 21, 2023 -
Lincoln, CA ? Lincoln Tree Service Pros, a tree care company based out of Lincoln, CA, has announced its vision for a sustainable future in the tree care industry. The company's CEO, Selman Homer, has recently shared his commitment to creating eco-friendly solutions and practices that will help protect the planet's natural environment.

According to the new vision, Lincoln Tree Service Pros is committed to implementing sustainable practices in all areas of its business. The company has implemented several measures, such as reducing waste, using energy-efficient equipment, and relying on eco-friendly materials.

Selman Homer has stated that the goal is to create a more sustainable future for tree care businesses by providing solutions and methods that will reduce environmental impacts and conserve resources. He also believes that these initiatives will help educate and inspire others in the industry to take action and change their operations.

In addition to this commitment, Lincoln Tree Service Pros also plans to further invest in research and development efforts to enhance their sustainability practices. This includes exploring innovative technologies that can help reduce energy consumption and researching alternative fuels for tree-cutting equipment.

"At Lincoln Tree Service Pros, we believe that our planet is worth preserving, so we strive to be leaders in the green movement," says Homer. "We're committed to providing quality tree service while minimizing our environmental impact."

The company also intends to partner with other businesses and organizations actively working towards creating a greener future through eco-friendly practices. By taking these steps, Lincoln Tree Service Pros hopes to lead the way in demonstrating how sustainable tree care can benefit both people and the environment.

Homer also believes that companies should be mindful of their operations' impact on the environment and take measures to reduce this impact. This includes reducing water use, limiting air pollution from power tools, and engaging in regular tree care practices like pruning and mulching.

Using these green practices, Homer believes that companies can help protect the environment and save money through increased efficiency and reduced costs associated with hazardous materials. Additionally, Homer believes that by incorporating these green practices into their operations, tree care businesses can benefit from improved customer relationships as they demonstrate sustainability.

To realize this vision, Homer intends to invest in new equipment over the next year. This includes replacing the company's current fleet of trucks and machinery with more energy-efficient models. In addition, he plans to install solar panels on the roof of the company's office building, allowing Lincoln Tree Service Pros to generate its electricity and save money on utility bills.

Homer adds, "We recognize that our actions directly affect the environment, so we're dedicated to finding new ways to reduce our carbon footprint while still providing high-quality services. In addition, we want to inspire other companies in the tree care industry to follow our lead and make sustainability a priority."
