Phoenix, AZ company Hawkins Wealth Advisory LLC has announced that it now offers Professional & Extreme Athletes disability income insurance protection. The company provides insurance and other types of financial planning tools to people in unusual professions who often earn higher incomes. These types of people often find it very difficult to find suitable disability income protection insurance, as most underwriters either do not work with them, or only offer them very low levels of protection. As a result, many have to purchase several insurance plans in order to have a reasonable measure of protection. Details on the athletes insurance can be seen at https://drive.google.com/file/d/0B5mut_8hx0vmNkNEOFM1TmFBek0/view?usp=sharing.

Robert E. Hawkins, who founded the Hawkins Wealth Advisory, says: "Whether participating in team sports or an individual sports, professional athletes expose themselves to countless possible injuries, and illnesses. A minor disability may become career-ending for a professional athlete. With the risk so high, most insurers will not underwrite disability insurance plans for athletes. Hawkins Wealth Advisory's Underwriters provides high limit coverage for professional athletes to financially protect against temporary and/or permanent disabilities."

As is made clear on http://www.hawkinswealthadvisory.com, each plan is unique and tailor-made to the needs of the individual. This is because, for professional athletes in particular, there are often various sources of income that must be protected. These include signing bonuses, team contracts, purse winnings and endorsements, for instance. Additionally, some athletes have fully guaranteed contracts, whereas others can be waived by the team. This is why Hawkins Wealth Advisory offers a number of flexible solutions.

The solutions offered by the company include draft protection, temporary disability protection, loss of value, contract guarantee, contract guarantee coverage, future contract value, and common professional player contract weakness. They offer this to professional athletes in a range of different sports, including football, hockey, basketball, baseball, motor sports, motocross and extreme sports. They also offer it for non-team sports such as skateboarding, surfing, winter sports and mixed martial arts. Coverage is available for anyone from student athlete to the fully professional athlete. Details about the various plans are available through the company website, along with global coverage benefits for U.S. and International Teams. http://www.gbg.com/hawkins.
