Adelaide, South Australia ? Fix-It Right Plumbing recently held a quarterly meeting recognizing the hard work and dedication of its professional technicians.

"Each quarter, we get together as a team to recognise the progress and achievements within our team," said a Fix-It Right Plumber spokesperson. "Several of our plumbers have transitioned to higher levels. These levels include beginner, intermediate, advanced, and expert."

As part of the ongoing training program, technicians have undergone professional instruction on improved blockage techniques, including water jetting, cable machines, and chemical drain-clearing products. During this time, Fix-It Right has also been developing a new Adelaide plumbing factory. Located at 8/126 Frederick Street, Welland, the new factory will grant the plumbing company greater access to state-of-the-art plumbing equipment and tools that will enable them to provide comprehensive services to its customers across South Australia.
