Tree Service Fresno Commits to Reforestation Efforts in Wildfire-Affected Areas

February 27, 2023

February 27, 2023 -
Fresno, CA ? Tree Service Fresno announced today that they would donate some of their profits to support reforestation efforts in areas affected by recent wildfires. The announcement was made at the company's headquarters in Fresno, California, by CEO Diana Burton.

As part of the company's commitment to giving back to the local community, it is donating 5% of its profits from this month to charity organizations currently doing reforestation work in wildfire-affected areas. The company hopes that this donation will not only help local communities recover but also send a message that companies should actively support environmental conservation efforts.

In addition to its financial contribution, Tree Service Fresno has committed to further promoting sustainability and resource conservation. For example, it will be planting trees across Fresno with the help of its staff and volunteers. This initiative is part of its mission to ensure the environment is properly cared for and attended to.

The company has also pledged to reduce its energy consumption by installing solar panels on its premises and using sustainable building practices when constructing or remodeling new buildings. By taking these measures, Tree Service Fresno hopes to set an example for other businesses to contribute positively to the environment and local communities.

"We are proud to demonstrate our commitment to the environment with this donation," said Burton. "The devastating effects of the fires have caused serious damage to forests and wildlife habitats across the state, and we want to do our part in helping them recover."

"At Tree Service Fresno, we believe in giving back to the community, and this donation is just one way we can make a difference," said Burton. "We hope that by contributing to reforestation efforts, we can promote positive environmental change and help rebuild what was lost."

The money donated will go towards planting new trees and shrubs and restoring damaged ecosystems. In addition, it will be used to purchase seedlings from local nurseries and fund volunteer programs that work to restore the environment.

"With the help of donations like this, we can begin to heal the land and create a greener future," said Burton. "We encourage others to join us in this cause and make a contribution of their own."
