February 27, 2023 -
Riverside, CA ? Riverside Tree Service has been recognized as a leader in sustainable and environmentally responsible tree care practices. In addition, the company, owned by Rickie Coover, recently received accolades from local environmental organizations for their commitment to sustainability and green initiatives.

The company's groundbreaking green initiatives include using eco-friendly fertilizers and pest control products, which help reduce their overall impact on the environment. They also employ practices that limit their carbon footprints, such as recycling tree stumps and wood chips. Additionally, they plant trees to restore the balance between development and nature.

The company actively preserves wildlife habitats and promotes environmental stewardship in its community. This includes organizing educational events for local schools, working with conservation groups on projects and campaigns, and providing free tree care services to underprivileged neighborhoods. By taking these steps, Riverside Tree Service has demonstrated a solid commitment to sustainability and responsible tree care practices that benefit both people and the environment.

The recent accolades recognize the company's efforts to promote green technology and reduce its carbon footprint. Riverside Tree Service has invested heavily in green technology, such as electrical equipment and solar-powered trucks, to reduce environmental impact. They have also implemented an extensive recycling program that includes recycling sawdust and mulch and using recycled materials whenever possible.

In addition to its sustainability practices, Riverside Tree Service has taken proactive steps to protect its work environment. The company has developed a comprehensive arbor care program that includes proper pruning and maintenance protocols, which helps to ensure the health and safety of trees and nearby ecosystems. Additionally, they use only certified arborists and experts trained in sustainable tree care and preservation techniques.

"Riverside Tree Service takes great pride in our commitment to sustainability and environmental responsibility," said Rickie Coover, CEO of Riverside Tree Service. "We must take care of our forests and protect them from any damage or harm that improper tree care practices can cause. We're honored to receive this recognition for our efforts."

The Environmental Organizations also praised Riverside Tree Service for taking the extra steps to protect the environment by working with only certified professionals, following proper safety protocols, and regularly updating their professionals on new technology when it comes out. This acknowledgment reinforces their commitment to high-quality service and sustainability practices.

"At Riverside Tree Service, we strive to provide our customers with the highest quality tree care services while protecting the environment," said Coover. "We understand that trees are essential resources that must be cared for properly, and we're proud that our practices have been recognized."
