La Jolla, CA ? La Jolla Tree Service Experts, led by CEO Radford Clifford, are proud to announce their partnership with local schools in La Jolla, CA, to create outdoor learning spaces for students. With many schools facing unprecedented challenges due to the recent pandemic that increased the need for more space between people to prevent transmission, La Jolla Tree Service Experts saw an opportunity to help provide a safe and enjoyable learning environment for kids as they adjust to the new normal.

La Jolla Tree Service Experts are passionate about giving back to their community. Through this partnership, they will provide landscape design and tree maintenance services to create outdoor learning spaces for students who can benefit from an open-air classroom atmosphere.

The team will also provide educational resources such as tree identification cards and tips on planting and caring for trees. Radford Clifford hopes to allow local students to learn in a safe space while fostering a greater appreciation of the natural environment surrounding them. The company will also bring experts in various fields, such as horticulture and agroforestry, who can lead engaging lessons about ecology and sustainability.

These activities will help students explore their creativity while making meaningful connections between their learning experience and their natural world. With this partnership, La Jolla Tree Service Experts hope to bring joy back into education for children during this difficult time.

"We're excited to partner with local schools to help create more comfortable and creative learning spaces for students," said Clifford. "A great education is so important for young people, and we want to do our part in helping ensure that these students have access to the best possible educational opportunities."

La Jolla Tree Service Experts will donate their time and resources to help transform schoolyards into vibrant classrooms where students can learn in the fresh air. In addition, the team of experts will use its extensive knowledge of tree care, trimming, and removal to create functional outdoor areas?complete with seating, shade structures, and other amenities?making learning and exploring nature easier for kids.

"We have always been passionate about helping beautify our community through trees ? from preserving mature trees in parks and neighborhoods to planting new ones in public spaces," said Clifford. "Now we get to use those same skills to bring life back into our community schools. It's a great feeling!"

This project is especially timely as summer approaches, and many students look forward to leaving the house. With the help of La Jolla Tree Service Experts, local schools will soon offer students a place to learn under the shade of a tree, play games in the grass, and socialize in a safe, socially-distanced environment.

The project has already begun to take shape?with multiple schools having already signed up for this service?and La Jolla Tree Service Experts expects that more and more schools will join in the coming weeks.

"Our mission is to make sure that every student has access to a safe and enjoyable learning environment, and I am excited that we can be a part of making that happen," said Clifford. "We have been working hard over the last few months to make sure that this is something we can do at scale, and I am confident that this project will have a lasting impact on our local communities."
