Charleston, South Carolina - March 07, 2023 -
The Center for Occupational & Environmental Medicine is bringing the many health benefits of Musli to Americans struggling with fatigue. Readers can find out more about the product by heading over to https://coem.com/store/MUSLI-60-CAPS-p307265381.

Safed Musli is an all-natural herb that has been used in the Indian subcontinent for over 4000 years. It is a rich source of over 25 phytonutrients and is free of sugar, starch, yeast, wheat, gluten, corn, barley, soy, fish, shellfish, nuts, tree nuts, eggs, and dairy products. It does not contain any artificial colors or flavors and is non-GMO.

The potency of the rare herb was first documented in Ayurveda, the classical texts that are now popularly known as a system of alternative medicine all around the world. COEM is now making Safed Musli available in the US in its pure and natural form to help Americans fight fatigue, increase stamina, revitalize the body, and improve energy.

In Ayurveda, Musli is considered to have the ability to enhance libido naturally and counteract sexual as well as general debility. While more conclusive evidence is needed, Musli has also been regarded to have anti-inflammatory properties with the potential to improve male fertility, fight obesity, help with conditions such as cancer and diabetes, provide relief to those suffering from osteoarthritis, and contribute towards faster recovery following strenuous activity.

The spokesperson for COEM talks about the benefits of Musli for overworked and fatigued individuals by saying, ?It is indeed a sign of the times that even the best among us are struggling to keep up with the chaos that engulfs the world today. The challenges of modernity are not something that evolution ever prepared us to face. Regardless of the efforts you put into maintaining your mind and body, it may seem that it is hard to catch a break from the madness and truly feel whole at the end of the day. It is at such times that we should turn to the ancients and draw from their wisdom. Chlorophytum Borivilianum, or Musli as it is commonly known, has been revered by Ayurveda for millennia and it may just be the key for you to get the most out of your hectic schedule. If you want to increase your energy and get more done today, this product is a game changer. It also improves strength, enhances workouts, and aids in exercise recovery.
