March 01, 2023 -
Los Angeles, CA ? Los Angeles Tree Professionals announced today that it has partnered with local non-profit organizations to provide free tree care services to low-income households and underserved communities in the Los Angeles area. The company will provide pruning, trimming, and other tree care services such as disease control and preventative maintenance.

Los Angeles Tree Professionals' free tree care services are part of its commitment to giving back to the community. The company works with non-profits such as the Los Angeles Nature Conservancy and Tree People, both specializing in urban forestry and environmental conservation.

This partnership will provide communities access to essential tree care services that could otherwise be too expensive for them. Los Angeles Tree Professionals will employ local arborists and tree technicians who have received specialized training to perform the necessary work safely.

The company also plans to host workshops and seminars to educate residents about strategies for proper tree care, such as watering and pruning techniques. In addition, Los Angeles Tree Professionals has pledged to donate a portion of their proceeds from their regular clientele towards funding further initiatives that focus on restoring the health of Los Angeles' trees.

They hope this initiative will help raise awareness about the importance of trees in the environment and enhance urban green spaces. In addition, by providing free tree care services, Los Angeles Tree Professionals is demonstrating its commitment to supporting underserved communities while contributing towards making Los Angeles greener and more sustainable in the future.

"We are incredibly excited about this partnership and our ability to give back to our community in a meaningful way," said Dennis Do, CEO of Los Angeles Tree Professionals. "Our team is passionate about helping people who may not have access to these services otherwise, and we take great pride in being able to help those who need it most."

The company is offering its services at no cost to those individuals who meet certain criteria, such as living in an underserved area or having a household income below a certain threshold. Los Angeles Tree Professionals will also work closely with its partner organizations to identify potential service recipients and ensure that they receive the best possible care.

"This partnership is a win-win for everyone involved," Do said. "We get the satisfaction of knowing we're giving back to our community in a very meaningful way, while those receiving the service benefit from having access to professional tree care without any cost or burden."

Since its founding in 1999, Los Angeles Tree Professionals has sought to provide the highest quality tree care services in the Los Angeles area. Specializing in pruning, trimming, and preventative maintenance, the company has made a name for itself by offering fast response times, competitive prices, and excellent customer service. This latest partnership is a natural extension of the company's mission to serve its community meaningfully.

"Our commitment to serving our community goes beyond just providing quality tree care services," CEO Dennis Do said. "We want to be part of something bigger than ourselves, and this partnership allows us to do just that. We are proud to be able to offer our services to those in need, and we look forward to continuing this work in the years to come."
