December 07, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

On Time Website Traffic, a business based in Atco, New Jersey, has recently launched their new access point. Through there, customers are able to find out how incorporating video in their online marketing can help them gain increased levels of traffic, particularly by using Facebook. Social networking sites now allow product and service reviews, and this can make a huge difference to overall traffic and conversion rates. The digital marketing company is looking forward to helping more businesses gain greater online domination.

"We provide a service that will get our clients' websites more organic traffic," says Marcus Brown and project staff from On Time Website Traffic. "One of the methods we use to achieve that is incorporating videos, and particularly through social media reviews. This is a powerful method of attracting more business and we really want to encourage everybody to use our access point to see the difference we can make for them."

The tool bundle offered by the business is comprehensive. They do not believe in one size fits all solutions, but rather in finding a package that is perfect for each individual client. As such, their power site rank building package includes no less than 30 different tools, each designed to have a huge impact on overall traffic. Furthermore, they also provide five second tier links, for an even greater impact.

The work done by On Time Website Traffic has been highly positively reviewed by their many customers. "I ordered this service 2 days ago and just received my report by email," says James Gaither. "Wow, works pretty fast. All YouTube, EzineArticles, and Weebly, look nice and clean. This is better for site promotions. I hope to get my links indexed faster to raise my website with all search engines. Definitely, money well spent."

Facebook is a hugely important tool for branding in today's online world. It enables consumers to speak directly with companies, and to discuss their experiences with their products and services. Similarly, video is an incredibly powerful tool, as people often feel they have a more direct and personal relationship with the business. Put together, Brown says, the two can have a huge impact.
