March 10, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ERTC GOV is providing small business owners with direct help from its experienced tax professionals to help them understand the ERTC program in 2023.

The ERTC was established as a part of the CARES Act of 2020 by the US government to ease economic hardships brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic. The ERTC provides a refund to business owners based on qualified employee wages and health plan expenses. Initially, businesses could only claim ERTC credits for employees on their payroll from 12th March 2020 to 31st December 2020. In 2021, this time frame was increased to include the first three quarters of that year.

While the ERTC stands for Employee Retention Tax Credits, it is a misnomer that gives a false impression of what the program is. The ERTC credit will come as a check or direct deposit. Clients will need to check with their tax professionals for any tax changes they may incur for the increased money. Moreover, there are no restrictions on how business owners choose to use those funds.

Mark Sullivan, the spokesperson for ERTC Gov, talks about the confusion surrounding ERTC by saying,

?First of all, the name tax credit has caused many business owners to not even attempt to file a claim. Next, most financial advisors are also not likely to have the requisite tax code expertise. So, business owners who could benefit from it are not getting the correct advice. Finally, many ERTC firms that were created to help these business owners do not provide adequate consultative services. They are focused on upselling you their services rather than educating you on the finer details of the program. It is unsurprising, then, that businesses that qualify and could benefit from the ERTC program are not proactive enough. As a result, billions of federally allocated dollars are going to go unclaimed.?

ERTC Gov is on a mission to change the way ERTC services are offered. The company understands that filing a claim for ERTC credits requires a bit of education and confidence building. With this mission and solution in mind, the company offers a live chat functionality on its website to reach out to small business owners who may be missing out.

Claimants who need help in getting a comprehensive overview of all the options available to them can contact ERTC Gov's tax professionals using the live chat functionality and get their most pressing questions answered. The live chat makes the company's dedicated CPAs highly accessible to all business owners looking for seamless and convenient ERTC services.

?Most ERTC firms operating today popped up in the last year when they realized the opportunity that was available,? Mark Sullivan says, ?You will find a vast majority of these fly-by-night firms use high-pressure sales tactics or they do not have the competence or experience to help you out. They will make promises but not follow through on them. You might end up trusting the wrong people with your finances and leave thousands of dollars, that you may have readily qualified for, unclaimed. We urge you to be very cautious when picking an ERTC firm to represent you. If you need any more guidance, head over to our website and read through the content where we have the ERTC credit explained, simply and succinctly.?

ERTC Gov is the only firm where its clients' ERTC claims are verified by three independent CPAs. Before final approval, the three CPAs confirm the accuracy of the claim based on the company's stringent standards. Together, the company's highly vetted and experienced CPAs can help clients maximize their ERTC claims.

ERTC Gov also offers audit support for its work, a service that other inexperienced ERTC firms can't provide. Customers can also opt for the Rapid Rebate? where they can receive their rebate within 6 weeks if they qualify. The company also does not charge upfront fees and they are 100% contingent on the clients' refunds.

Readers can get started by heading over to ERTC Gov's website and initiating a live chat with the company's representatives.
