November 30, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Search Intelligence LLC, a company in Tampa, FL, is now offering SEO optimized web design, as well as a variety of other SEO-related services. Their SEO services have been highly popular with small to medium sized businesses (SMBs) and local businesses since the company was founded some five years ago. Their new SEO optimized web design is already proving to be very popular.

"Our goal is to help companies improve what they are already offering," says Valerie Longo, co-founder of Search Intelligence LLC. "For us, this means we have to improve ourselves as well. This is why we are so proud to now have added SEO optimized web design to our list of services, as this is something that customers need to gain a competitive edge over other businesses."

With this new service Search Intelligence will help their clients drive more relevant traffic. Furthermore, they will implement strategies and tactics to make sure the traffic that does arrive on the website immediately sees that they have found their go-to source.

"Take a law firm, for instance," says Pipp I Patton, the other co-founder. "Lawyers know they offer superior services, but will their potential clients be able to know that from looking at their website? This is why proper web design is also so important."

Essentially, SEO optimized web design is about creating a website that the businesses like and that ranks on the first page of the SERPs. A site that provides the information clients, and customers need to make a decision, shows why the business is an authority source, and inspires a client to take positive action. Search Intelligence LLC is looking forward to working on this with their customers and showing them how much of a difference their services can make to the bottom line.

Those interested in SEO optimized web design are encouraged to visit the company's website and to complete the strategy form. This form will enable the company to develop immediately an idea of what the customer wants and how that can best be addressed. Customers are also encouraged to give the company's Facebook page a like, as this will enable them to be kept up to date with any special offers and developments. Additionally, it is an opportunity to join in the conversation about the importance of proper website design, SEO practices and more. The Facebook page is also used to share useful hints and tips about the world of SEO and web design, which people can implement straight away by themselves.

Search Intelligence, a company based in Tampa, FL, now offers SEO optimized web design aside from penalty recovery, authority marketing, and reputation management. Valerie Longo and Pipp I Patton, co-founders, have been helping SMBs and local businesses with their online marketing for over five years.
