December 17, 2015 -
Perfectly Vivid, a company that provides tactical flashlights and is based in Coronado, CA, is happy to announce that they now offer a 100% satisfaction guarantee. The flashlight, which has been designed with survivalists in mind, has a high lumen with low battery usage and is durable enough to withstand any situation. Those who find that the product does not live up to their expectations will receive a full refund on their purchase. More details about the flashlight can be seen at http://perfectlyvivid.com/.

Dr. Christopher Vogelmann, who is the founder of Perfectly Vivid, was quoted as saying: "We stand by the durability and resilience of our tactical flashlights. They are made from a high quality, aircraft grade aluminum, which means it can literally be run over by a truck and still work. We know that because we tested it. Hence, if anyone has any issues with the flashlight, that person will receive a full refund or a replacement product, because nothing should ever go wrong with it."

The flashlight has been built to last over 100,000 hours. It is completely waterproof and comes with multiple memory mode as well. The company is so sure that the product will last that they offer not just a 100% satisfaction guarantee, but also a lifetime warranty.

Judging by the positive reviews that have been left about the tactical flashlight, no one has yet had to use the guarantee or warranty. "As far as flashlights go, this is a quality made product," says Amy Wright. "Over the years I've purchased a number of flashlights, only to be disappointed by their ability to provide a quality light source. That is not a problem with this Perfectly Vivid brand. My husband is a deer hunter and he was more than happy to add this to his gearbox to take with him. With the real tactical LED lights he was happy to know he will not be 'left in the dark'."

The company also encourages everybody to visit and 'Like' their Facebook page at https://www.facebook.com/perfectlyvivid/?fref=ts&ref=br_tf. This will give them the opportunity to discuss how they have used the flashlight and more.
