March 22, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Bling! Premier Lighting of Greater Lexington is offering a range of high-quality outdoor lighting design, installation, and maintenance services to the area's residential and commercial property owners.

Nicholasville residents can choose from a wide range of outdoor lighting options for their property. Bling!'s designers can light up patios, decks, porches, gazebos, rooflines, yards, grills, fire pits, outdoor pools, bar or restaurant spaces, outdoor walls, steps, and more. The company's lighting options can be customized for all kinds of private and public events, either at home or at commercial spaces, including weddings, mitzvahs, fundraisers, grand openings, pride month, corporate parties, graduations, game days, and more.

Bling! has a simple 7-step guided process to give its customers exactly what they want. It begins with a design consultation where the lead lighting designer sits down with the customer and understands their goals for their special occasion or year-round outdoor property lighting. The design consultation can be completed in person or virtually.

Bling! Premier Lighting uses high-tech visualization software to show customers a 3D rendering of their property which can be superimposed with the result of the lighting installation. So, customers get a clear vision of what their home or commercial property will look like after Blingle's technicians are finished. Next, customers are provided a contract to sign that includes a price estimate and detailed instructions that account for all their requirements. Any tweaks to the design or services can be made at this stage until property owners are completely on board.

Once the proposal is accepted, Blingle schedules the installation. It is recommended to book the services early in case there is a surge in demand leading up to the holidays. Regardless of the timelines agreed upon, Blingle's professionals will complete the work within the promised deadlines every time.

After the installation, customers can rely on Blingle's workmanship and product warranties to assure that their setup will work exactly as intended and if there are any issues, the company's crew is just a phone call away. Blingle promises to troubleshoot problems and fix any deviations from the original contract for no additional charge. Finally, if the contract was seasonal, Blingle's technicians will be on their way after the holiday or event to take down the temporary lighting.

The operations at Greater Lexington are overseen by Myles Parker who says he is inspired by his deep connection to the local community. "It may be easy to assume that Blingle is in the lighting business," Myles says. "However, what we take pride in is creating unforgettable experiences for you to share with your friends, family, coworkers, and neighbors. Blingle is more than just our quality hardware, expert hassle-free installations, and custom lighting designs. We are your partners in making the good times brighter so you can share them with the ones you love the most. You can head over to our website to see samples of the work we have done in and around Nicholasville. You are also welcome to follow us on social media to keep up with our news and announcements."

Blingle Premier Lighting of Greater Lexington has already created waves in the local community due to its affordable yet meticulously designed, professional-grade lighting installations. On its Google Business Profile, the company has netted a perfect 5.0 out of 5.0 rating from satisfied customers.

The latest review says, "We had a fantastic experience with Blingle! The lighting was beautiful. We greatly enjoyed it through the holiday season. The staff is extremely professional. They completed the job when they said they were going to in a very timely manner. Both install and tear out. They made sure that we were fully satisfied with the project. I will continue to recommend them to friends, family, and clients!?"
