Integrity Collection LLC has announced that they have just launched their new garlic press and peeler. The stainless steel set is available through the Amazon marketplace at <http://www.amazon.com/Garlic-Integrity-Collection-Silicon-Cleaning/dp/B00ZDR7CUG>. So far, the product has been very well-received and purchasers have been leaving highly positive reviews.

"What a great product," says Michele M. "We received it on time and it was well packaged. We used it immediately and I'm very impressed. The tube peeler is my favorite new kitchen gadget. It perfectly peeled my garlic cloves with little effort and the best part is no more garlic under my nails. The press was easy to use and saved me so much time. Very easy to clean and comes with brush that gets into all of the hard to reach places. Definitely recommend."

Michele's review clearly highlights the company's ethos and vision. Not only do they want to deliver high quality and efficient products, they also want to make sure that they offer superior customer service. This is why the garlic press comes with a lifetime warranty, as do other Integrity Collection products. For them, customer satisfaction always comes first.

It is also for this reason that the company is directing people to their Facebook page on <https://www.facebook.com/integritycollectionllc>. This page highlights all the different products that the company offers, including the new garlic press and peeler. Furthermore, it is an opportunity for people to be in direct contact with the company should they have any questions, suggestions or concerns.

"I bought this product because we were extremely happy with the other Integrity products that we had purchased before," says Omid T. "And we are glad that we did. This garlic press is by far the best one that I've used ever. We absolutely recommend this for any type of kitchen. It's built to last."

Integrity Collection LLC has now released a number of high quality products on Amazon, as well as having them listed on their website at <http://www.integritycollectionllc.com/>. The website offers customers the opportunity to view all the different products in an organized, easy to access fashion before placing their order through the online marketplace.
