

Tulsa Tree Experts Launches Initiative to Combat Urban Tree Loss from Extreme Weather Events

March 22, 2023

Tulsa, Oklahoma - March 22, 2023 -
Tulsa, OK - Tulsa Tree Experts, a leading tree care company in Tulsa, OK, has announced the launch of an ambitious new initiative to combat urban tree loss due to extreme weather events. This innovative program seeks to protect the city's trees from the increasingly harsh climate by providing specialized services such as pruning, fertilization, and pest control that will help preserve the health and vitality of Tulsa's urban forests.

The initiative was spearheaded by Denise Matthews, CEO of Tulsa Tree Experts, who has long been a staunch advocate for preserving Tulsa's natural environment. Matthews commented on the initiative's launch: "With Oklahoma now experiencing more frequent and intense storms and extreme weather events, we must take proactive steps to protect our trees. Trees are essential to the environment and our community ? they provide oxygen, shade, and wildlife habitat while adding beauty to our neighborhoods. We aim to ensure that these valuable resources can continue to thrive despite whatever Mother Nature brings our way."

To achieve this goal, Tulsa Tree Experts will provide various essential services to help protect urban trees from extreme weather events. These services include pruning and trimming trees for optimal health and structural integrity, applying protective fertilizer coats to protect trees from drought stress, and applying specialized pest control treatments to reduce damage from insects and pests. The company will also offer advice and tips on properly caring for trees in extreme weather conditions.

In addition to their work in Tulsa, Matthews and her team hope to use their expertise and experience to aid other cities with similar problems. Matthews stated: "We are hopeful that our success here in Tulsa will inspire other cities in the region and across the country to take action to protect their trees in the face of extreme weather events. We believe that all cities should have access to the same tools and resources we have here at Tulsa Tree Experts, and we are committed to helping others create successful tree protection programs of their own."

Tulsa Tree Experts plans to begin offering their services in Tulsa this summer and is already looking ahead to expanding their work beyond the city limits in the coming year.
