

Neerings Is Serving Salt Lake City Residents Looking for the Best Ductless Heat Pump Contractor in Their Area

April 25, 2023

SALT LAKE CITY, UT - April 25, 2023 -

Neerings Plumbing Heating Air & Electric, Salt Lake City's leading ductless heat pump contractor, is inviting local customers in the metro area to find out more about its full range of HVAC services.

Ductless HVAC systems, or mini-split systems, eschew the need for installing labyrinthine ductwork throughout the property. They instead deliver hot or cool air to single spaces using an outdoor unit and an indoor unit connected using tubing for the electrical and refrigerant components. Their simplicity and superior energy efficiency make them a great choice for many homeowners and are also the reasons why they are gaining popularity in metro areas such as Salt Lake City, Utah.

Neerings is a full-service HVAC and plumbing contractor that also provides electrical and remodeling services. As a family-run business that got its start in 1939, the company brings more than 85 years of experience to homeowners and commercial property owners in Salt Lake City looking for high-quality and reliable HVAC services. Today, the company offers all kinds of ductless solutions to residents in the city and nearby areas ? from affordable starter units to top-of-the-line ductless HVAC solutions with zoning to connect different rooms.

Troy Neerings, President of Neerings talks about the company's storied history by saying, "The roots of Neerings go way back to 1935. I remember going to work with my father and hearing stories from my grandfather, they had such great leadership. It's a generational blessing to be able to serve our community the way we do."

The Salt Lake City HVAC services provider, which does not have many peers who have lasted for as long as it has, prides itself on providing gold-standard service. Troy Neerings grew up in the industry and runs the company like none other. Under his leadership, Neerings has developed a stellar reputation for taking care of its customers first with a firm belief that its employees are equally as important for its success. The company's full suite of plumbing, heating, cooling, and electrical services also complements its remodeling division.

"I feel like the hard work, honesty, and dedication that we put into what we do has contributed to our success in Salt Lake City," says Jake Neerings who is continuing his family's legacy. "We're proud to offer the gold standard of service in all we do and be a leader in providing ductless solutions. Ductless heating and ductless air conditioning is the modern way to heat and cool your home."

Neerings' ductless HVAC systems are the perfect solution for many homeowners who looking to save energy costs or provide heating or cooling to an area cut off from the rest of the property. The Salt Lake City ductless contractor offers HVAC systems from the best manufacturers in the industry including Mitsubishi, the world leader in mini-split technology. Over the years, Neerings has built up solid trust with the homeowners in the Utah communities it serves. The confidence that customers have in the company is evident in its Google Business Profile which has an impressive 4.5 out of 5 stars rating from over 1400 reviews. Salt Lake City homeowners recommend Neerings for its work quality, professional technicians, responsive customer service, and affordable pricing.

A Company Service Manager for Neerings talks about their journey with the company by saying, "The dynamic of teamwork is very important. I was mentored at Neerings, started as a helper and grew to a technician, and am now the service manager. This is the company that I need to be with, this is the company that serves the community. We're excited about how the Ductless Mini Split is transforming the way people heat and cool their homes. We're excited to be the leader of ductless in Salt Lake City."
