They offer various kinds of commercial cleaning services. These include: office cleaning, COVID cleaning, medical cleaning, gym cleaning, childcare cleaning, and more. They offer various kinds of office cleaning services, such as: office carpet cleaning, office deep cleaning, office window cleaning, regular office cleaning, end of lease office cleaning, office floor cleaning, office building cleaning, office COVID-19 disinfection, and more.

The standard office cleaning service includes cleaning floors, dusting desk, window sills, furniture, etc., vacuuming carpets, wiping surfaces, computer keyboard and monitors, light fixtures and more, cleaning and disinfecting toilets, emptying the trash cans, and disinfecting other high-traffic points. They can also provide custom office cleaning plans and services for those who have unique cleaning requirements.

They will follow a carefully detailed office cleaning process that allows them to complete the job in the shortest time possible while making sure that the best results are provided. Their cleaning process includes dusting/wiping all surfaces, windows, fixtures, doors, computer monitors, walls, etc., which is then followed by cleaning the carpets and floors and carpets. Finally, they will clean the kitchens, toilets, and other remaining areas.

They recommend that an office building be cleaned at least once a week. Cleaning of the floors and dusting should be done daily. For offices with light traffic with only a few employees entering the premises, standard cleaning daily and a monthly deep office cleaning is suggested. For those with high traffic, such as malls or stores, weekly deep cleaning and disinfection is recommended.

Launched in 2005 by Suji Siv, owner and CEO, Clean Group is a cleaning service company that is focused on Sydney and the rest of New South Wales. The cleaning team made up of highly skilled and experienced cleaners is always committed to providing the best quality cleaning while using cutting edge cleaning technology.
