Wonderful Wags Pet Products Showcased On New Website

December 10, 2015

December 10, 2015 -
Wonderful Wags, a pet products business in Farmington, UT, has announced that their new website has been officially launched. The website is set to be very exciting and includes articles and tips on pet safety during the holidays, as well as top gifts for dogs this Christmas. The focus of the website at present is on showcasing the Wonderful Wags pet products in particular.

"Our most popular pet product at present is the No Bark Collar," says Renee Coulter from Wonderful Wags. "It has been designed to gently train dogs to stop barking. Full details are available through our new website and we couldn't be happier with the overall design. We hope our clients love it, and the information we share, as much as what we do."

The No Bark Collar is currently available for purchase through the Amazon selling platform. Unlike many other no bark collars, this one has been designed to not hurt the dog in any way, but to rather calmly train them into no longer barking at everything. It is completely safe to use and the collar is fully adjustable to fit most dogs.

While the Amazon selling platform is greatly appreciated by customers as it offers a safe selling platform, some had commented on the lack of a brand identity for the company itself. They feel that, now that the website has been launched, this has been properly addressed. "The new website is great," says one happy customer. "It really shows that for Wonderful Wags, the goal is not just to sell products, but also to make sure dog owners can care for their pets the best the can do. The safety information is really good and particularly the information on keeping pets safe at Christmas. I'm so glad that they have launched it."

Wonderful Wags has also launched a Facebook page on https://www.facebook.com/WonderfulWags/, in conjunction with the new website. They encourage everyone to give them a 'Like' and to leave a comment if they want. Liking the page will enable them to be kept up to date with special offers and other product developments.
