treendalevet.com.au, a leading provider of veterinary services in Bunbury, has announced the introduction of advanced imaging technology to its state-of-the-art facilities. The advanced imaging equipment, which includes Computed Tomography (CT), digital radiography (X-Ray), fluoroscopy, dental radiography, ultrasound, rhinoscopy, endoscopy, and on-site laboratory for in-house blood testing, is designed to provide fast and accurate diagnoses for pets.

Dr Rob Hill, the Director of the veterinarian and skilled veterinary surgeon, at Treendale Pet Medical, said, ?The team is excited to introduce this advanced imaging technology to facilities in Bunbury. The investment in this state-of-the-art equipment demonstrates the team's commitment to providing the best possible care for pets in the region. The technology allows the team to quickly and accurately diagnose a wide range of health issues, which can lead to faster treatment and improved outcomes for pets and their families.?

The advanced imaging technology will enable veterinarians at Treendale Pet Medical to detect diseases and conditions that may not be visible with traditional imaging methods. The equipment will also help veterinarians to provide more precise treatments and to monitor the progress of a pet?s recovery.

Dr Rob Hill also said, ?At Treendale Pet Medical, the team is always looking for ways to improve the care they provide to patients. The investment in this technology is just one example of how they are working to stay at the forefront of veterinary medicine.?

The team believes that by working closely with pet owners, they can create a partnership that leads to better outcomes for pets. That's why they offer a range of services, from routine check-ups to more complex procedures, to ensure that patients receive the care they need at every stage of their lives. And with new imaging technology, the team is even better equipped to meet the needs of pets in the Bunbury area.

Looking towards the future, Bunbury Vet is planning to expand its services to offer telemedicine vet check-ups for pet owners who can?t see them in person, community companion animals, Doppler ultrasound procedures, and treatment plans for regular vet check-ups via patient records. These services will complement the existing services, which include general health check-ups, vaccinations, microchipping, and surgical procedures.

Dr Rob Hill added, ?The team is constantly evaluating services to ensure that it will provide the best possible care to patients and the planned expansion of services reflects the team's commitment to meeting the evolving needs of pet owners in the region.?
