March 30, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

mindariequinnsdental.com.au, a leading dental clinic in Quinns Rocks, Western Australia, has recently announced that they are now offering emergency dentist service in Joondalup. Dental emergencies can happen at any time and it is important to get the right care as soon as possible.

According to Dr Kent Tan, the principal of Mindarie-Quinns Dental Centre, "Recognising that dental emergencies can be distressing and uncomfortable, the team at the clinic is now providing emergency dentist services in Joondalup. They are equipped to manage any urgent dental care situations and offer prompt relief to patients."

To help patients better understand what to do in case of a dental emergency, the clinic has provided some handy tips. If a tooth has been knocked out, it is important to stay calm and find the actual tooth. Handle it by the crown (the top), not the root, without scraping or rubbing away any tissue fragments. For a cracked or chipped tooth, clean the area by rinsing the mouth with warm water. If anyone is experiencing a toothache, rinse the mouth with warm water to clean it out. If swelling is present, place a cold compress on the outside of the mouth or cheek.

There are certain dental emergencies that require immediate attention, such as bleeding gums that will not stop, injured teeth or jaw, painful swelling, and painful toothache that will not subside. Urgent dental emergencies should be dealt with immediately, and patients should call Mindarie-Quinns dental immediately in the event that they notice any of the above mentioned problems for an appointment.

For non-urgent dental emergencies, patients should still notify their dentist right away. Examples of non-urgent dental emergencies include a lost dental filling, crown, or bridge, a broken or cracked tooth (unless causing severe pain), a broken or damaged retainer or night guard, dull toothache, and mild dental tooth sensitivity.

Mindarie-Quinns Dental Centre not only provides emergency dentist services but also offers preventative care and general dentistry services. The clinic has partnered with major insurers to ensure patients receive optimal care. For those without insurance, a new patient offer is available.

Dr Kent Tan concluded, "Mindarie-Quinns Dental is dedicated to providing patients with the best care possible, whether it is an emergency or a routine check-up. The team believes that everyone deserves quality dental care, and is striving to make it accessible to all."
