December 03, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Leading event planners Antun's has kept their tradition of organizing popular New Year's Eve parties going and has announced their highly awaited "New Year's Eve Party Queens Village 2015." Along with the announcement, they have also made the tickets for the event available to buy online.

While making the announcement, Mickey King, representing Antun's, said that the people of Queens Village have a rich history of celebrating New Year's Eve with great enthusiasm at their historic wedding hall. "Continuing the tradition of extraordinary New Year's Eve parties, Antun's is ringing in 2016 in a much grander manner," he said.

Talking about the event, he said that the much awaited New Year's Eve Party Queens Village 2015 will be much better than ever before. He says that the party will begin at 9:00 P.M. with an open bar for 6 hours. He added that this year's party will serve International Smorgasbord till 1:00 A.M. which will feature a seafood buffet, fresh chilled shrimp, hot carved meat and much more.

"Professional photographers from Madison Studio are hired for the event. We will also have the live feed from Times Square and much more," he added. As told, the tickets for the much awaited event can be bought online and people buying 8-12 tickets will get their own table.

Antun's is a historic event planning and catering service provider. It was established in 1945 and since then has been a place that people have preferred to book for each and every event. With the New Years Eve Party, Queens Village 2015, Antun's have kept their yearly new year eve's party's tradition going and promises that this year will be bigger and better than before.
