Atlanta, Georgia - April 03, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., a personal injury attorney, is extending legal services to those injured due to the negligence or fault of others in John's Creek, Georgia. If you have been harmed by an individual or business, consider contacting Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. for advice on the appropriate steps to take after your accident.

Personal injury law encompasses many accidents, such as vehicle collisions, slips and falls, workplace incidents, faulty consumer products, medical malpractice, dog bites, nursing home mistreatment, premises liability, and more. In the US legal system, plaintiffs must conclusively demonstrate that their injuries resulted from negligence, gross negligence, reckless behavior, or intentional misconduct by the responsible party. Strict liability also applies to cases where the defendant is responsible for accidents in their domain.

As Georgia is an at-fault state for vehicle accidents, victims must file a claim with the insurance company of the responsible party. Insurance adjusters often try to minimize their client's liability by employing intimidation tactics or persuading the victim to accept a lower payout. Once a low offer is accepted, the victim relinquishes their right to pursue future legal claims.

Ken Nugent explains how insurance adjusters can trap personal injury victims, stating, "Many clients want to accept the first settlement offered to quickly cover medical expenses and move on from the accident. However, some injuries may not be apparent until weeks or months later, leading to mounting treatment costs and financial strain during recovery. Insurance companies know how to convince victims to settle claims quickly to boost their profits. With an experienced attorney like myself, you'll receive the guidance needed to obtain the maximum compensation you're legally entitled to. We'll advocate ensuring you have the support required for a full recovery and peace of mind."
