Dripping Springs Family Smiles wants to point out their root canal therapy in Dripping Springs, TX, particularly its importance. A root canal may be required when bacteria has gained entry into the pulp tissue of the tooth, resulting into an infection and nerve pain. This type of treatment allows the removal of the bacteria using medication and dental instruments. This allows the dentist in Dripping Springs get rid of infected or inflamed pulp tissue, disinfect the tooth cavity, and help avoid the necessity of a tooth extraction.

The high quality of the dental services provided by Dripping Springs Family Smiles is confirmed by the five star reviews they have been receiving. For example, Diana D. has given them a five star rating and said, ?The best dentist ever! I lost my filling while in flight to Texas. I was looking so forward to my first visit to the great state and seeing my family. I didn't know what to expect when I found Dr. Bobb. Dr. Bobb is kind and professional and made me feel very at ease and comfortable. She has a great staff as well! Thanks Dr. Bobb, Britt, Casey and staff! I highly recommend this dentist.?

Meanwhile, there are a number of signs and symptoms that may indicate the need for a root canal. One sign is severe pain in a tooth, especially when biting down on something. Second, there might be some stabbing or shooting pains traveling through the tooth when eating or drinking something cold or hot. Third, a tooth may appear to be somewhat discolored when compared to the others. Fourth, there might be a swelling in the area or there is some kind of bump on the outside of the gums. Those who believe they might need a root canal can come to the office and they will conduct a thorough exam and inform the patient if a root canal is required.

They also want to point out that there are a number of benefits from root canal therapy. First of all, it will become easier to chew hard foods without the pain. Second, the root canal will decrease the chances of the patient having to undergo a tooth extraction. Third, they can restore the natural appearance of the patient?s beautiful smile. Fourth, the risks of an oral infection spreading to the other parts of the mouth are decreased.

They fully understand that many people get nervous when getting a root canal. That is why they provide a number of ways to ensure the comfort of the patient throughout the procedure and this may include using some forms of sedation.
