A car accident trial lawyer from the firm can help an accident victim navigate the legal processes in the aftermath of an auto accident with the end result of getting the compensation they deserve. They are committed to personal injury law and take pride in having a 99 percent success rate in all of their cases.

The Law Firm of Jeremy Rosenthals want accident victims to be aware of the statute of limitations for car accidents in Colorado, which is three years from the date of the crash. That is why contacting an experienced and reliable lawyer as soon as possible after the accident is vital. If the statute of limitations is exceeded, the accident victim may lose the ability to receive the compensation for the damages incurred.

Their advice to car accident victims is to report a crash to the police if it resulted in disabled vehicles, personal injury, and/or death. It the accident a hit-and-run or a drunk driver, the police should be contacted immediately so that they may visit the scene and investigate and collect evidence. The police report may also be useful for the personal injury case. Currently, Colorado has at-fault insurance laws, which make the at-fault driver financially responsible for losses related to the crash.

Jeremy Rosenthal says, ?We focus exclusively on personal injury law and have represented clients in a wide variety of claims including car accidents, defective products, catastrophic injury and more. If you or a loved one have suffered serious injuries, our Denver accident lawyers can help. We offer a free and confidential case evaluation and never charge a fee unless we recover compensation in your case.?

They have an overall rating of 4.9 out of 5 stars on Google. In a recent review, Allan P. gave them a five star rating and said, ?Jeremy and his team were absolutely amazing. I was hit by a drunk driver, that left me with a number of injuries. They took my case and did everything, and I mean everything. I had to do absolutely nothing but go to my appointments to get well again. Which was nice while dealing with a head injury.
