TX based Mighty Dog Roofing of South Austin is making their full suite of roofing and exterior services available to homeowners in Buda, Texas. Customers who have already heard of Mighty Dog Roofing may be aware that the company's services include roof maintenance, repair and full replacements, along with similar services for gutters, siding and even windows. The company restricts their use of materials only to the top products on the market, which in turn means they are able to guarantee longevity and durability like few others. In fact, they offer a craftsmanship warranty on top of the manufacturer's warranty that already accompanies each product.

However, this is far from the only reason the company is trusted by customers who recognize the Mighty Dog Roofing brand. According to a review from Patrick B., "I called Mighty Dog after moving into an older house that needed its roof replaced and gutters installed. Mighty Dog was among four or so roofing companies I called and got quotes from, and they had the best price and best financing options. Alex and Bridget were super helpful in getting an estimate on the repair and talking me through the process. When I said it would be a couple months between the initial inspection and the actual installation, they called regularly to check in and see how things were going."

The review goes on to say that, "Edgar and Reyna did great work on the roof and fascia replacement, which took only a day's work. They cleaned up well, and I felt safe letting my dog in the backyard after the work was done. Tyler did great work on the gutters, which only took a couple hour's work. The roof and gutters look great, and I feel much better about the structural integrity of my home." See more about the company here: Visit Web Site.

As this customer discovered, cleanup is considered a crucial element in the Mighty Dog Roofing playbook. An excellent service, the company says, is never complete without a full clean that accounts for every piece of construction the team brought to the site in question. This includes roofing materials of all kinds, even nails which the team actually utilizes magnets to hunt for after the main job is complete.

Combing over a property in this manner may appear to be a tedious task, but the company is adamant that it is simply part of the Mighty Dog ethos. A customer should be able, for instance, to enjoy the benefit of their new roof without having to worry about debris lying around their property. This ethos may also explain why many customers prefer Mighty Dog Roofing over other contractors.

"The goal is to respect your home as if it were our own," states the company. "You would not leave detritus lying around after a project, so neither will we." This deeply entrenched respect also means the company takes great care not to cause accidental damage to any part of the house or its surroundings, including the landscaping.

Notably, some of the company's supplementary services can make them invaluable even when the team is not around. For instance, Might Dog Roofing employs drone technology to take accurate scans of a house's exterior, documenting every inch in detail. For the company, this has a two-fold function: it helps them determine the extent of existing issues and it gives them a record of the property's past condition when they come back later for future jobs.

However, they are ready and willing to share this data with the customer when asked, so it can be used for a variety of other purposes. A common example is customers using it when filing insurance claims for roof damage (which the team can also assist with), but it can also be used by realtors during sales and so on.

Mighty Dog Roofing invites homeowners to get in touch today if their roof has suffered damage. The company's address and contact details can be found on the official Mighty Dog Roofing website.
