Five Star Acupuncture, a clinic in Henderson, NV, is proud to announce that they now also offer cupping as part of their array of services. Cupping is a technique that is gaining in popularity and, having found a trained expert, they are happy that their clients can now enjoy it. The procedure is already proving to be very popular.

"Cupping is an ancient technique used in Chinese medicine that has a variety of interesting health benefits," says a representative from Five Star Acupuncture. "It is a treatment option that we have been wanting to offer for quite some time now, but it is very hard to find someone who is truly good at performing the treatment. We're very happy to have found someone, and our clients are already enjoying the results."

Cupping involves placing cups on a patient's body, which then vacuum themselves to the skin. In so doing, they draw blood to the surface of the skin, and it is believed that this will then release toxins and other harmful products from the body. The method has also been found to improve blood flow overall and this has been shown to benefit people in a variety of ways and to improve overall health conditions. More information can be seen at the clinic's Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/Five-Star-Acupuncture-543421205822550/>.

"The first time I heard about cupping, I was skeptical," says Marie T. "However, I did some research and had it done by an actual Chinese expert when I was in Beijing and the benefits are undeniable. I'm so happy that Five Star Acupuncture now offers the technique as well, as I really wanted to repeat it but can't exactly travel to Beijing all the time. I have completed my first treatment and am once again enjoying the benefits that I experienced in China as well."

As with acupuncture, cupping requires in-depth knowledge of the 'Chi' or life energy that flows through every person's body. In understanding this, the practitioner is able to identify where a cup should be placed in order to get the best results. This takes a certain kind of knowledge that is passed down through experience and demonstration, and takes years to complete. Five Star Acupuncture is very happy to have found someone who has this expertise.
