Albuquerque, NM - With Christmas rapidly approaching the dilemma of picking the perfect gift for family and love ones can become very challenging. Thankfully, there are many holiday gift guides online that can help one choose the proper gift. One holiday gift guide is the Heart Zipper, started by a blogger known as Britney.

One of the featured items on the Heart Zipper holiday gift guide are the virgin coconut oil capsules from CKLBRANDS. Although Britney normally reviews such items as kitchenware or household items, she is a strong believer in the power of coconut oil so this was one review she could not pass up.

?I usually use coconut oil in cooking and baking and hadn't tried them as a supplement before. I really like to use coconut oil in my diet. For me personally it helps with my digestion of food. It helps my gut feel well. I have also used other forms of it as a moisturizer for my skin. So I thought it would be great to give this supplement a try and see how it works for me from the inside out,? said Britney in her review.

The virgin coconut oil capsules from CLKBRANDS is shown to work from the inside with being a natural source of fatty acids such as caprylic acid, myristic acid and lauric acid and Triglycerides (MCTs). The organically made unrefined virgin coconut oil capsules are known to be naturally free of cholesterol, gluten, trans-fat and hydrogenated fats.

According to Britney she admires the natural goodness of the virgin coconut oil capsules, ?I really like to be able to get natural fatty acids for my body in a more natural way. I usually use coconut oil in cooking and also I love to eat it on toast instead of butter. Being able to take it in a supplement form has been nice just because sometimes I don't have enough time in my day to get all the nutrients in my diet that I need just in my foods. I have been looking for something to help me get more natural fatty acids in my diet and I was excited to give this a try. I look forward to the continued use and seeing what other benefits I feel.?

The virgin coconut oil capsules would be an ideal gift for someone interested in health and wellness. CLKBRANDS Virgin Coconut Oil Capsules are available on the shopping portal Amazon. They are certified doctor tested and backed by a 100% no hassle money back guarantee.
