April 26, 2023 -
Franklin, TN - Franklin Tree Service Experts, a leading tree care company in Franklin, Tennessee, is thrilled to announce its latest initiative: offering tree-climbing workshops and fitness classes to the local community. These exciting classes, designed for beginners and experienced climbers, promote a deeper connection with nature, enhance physical fitness, and provide a unique outdoor experience.

Mariam Sabrina, CEO of Franklin Tree Service Experts, is passionate about bringing this innovative program to the community: "We recognize that there's something extraordinary about connecting with trees through climbing. Not only does tree climbing promote physical fitness, it also fosters a sense of adventure and wonder in the great outdoors. We are excited to share our love for trees and our expertise in tree care with others through these workshops and fitness classes."

The tree-climbing workshops, led by certified arborists and experienced tree climbers, cover a wide range of topics, including tree identification, climbing techniques, safety protocols, and proper use of equipment. In addition, participants will be able to practice their newfound skills on various tree species under the guidance of skilled instructors.

For those seeking a more fitness-oriented experience, Franklin Tree Service Experts' tree-climbing fitness classes offer a unique and challenging full-body workout. Incorporating elements of strength training, balance, and flexibility, these classes provide participants with an exhilarating and effective exercise regimen in a natural setting.

Sabrina highlights the benefits of tree climbing as a form of exercise: "Tree climbing is an incredibly versatile workout that engages all major muscle groups and challenges the body's balance and coordination. By offering fitness classes centered around tree climbing, we hope to encourage people to embrace a healthier, more active lifestyle while enjoying the beauty and serenity of nature."

The tree-climbing workshops and fitness classes are open to participants of all ages and skill levels, strongly emphasizing safety and responsible tree care practices. In addition, Franklin Tree Service Experts is committed to ensuring that each climbing experience is enjoyable and environmentally sustainable.

Sabrina elaborates on the company's dedication to sustainability: "As tree care professionals, we are deeply committed to preserving and protecting our urban forests. Our tree-climbing programs prioritize using low-impact climbing techniques and equipment to minimize any potential tree harm."

With the launch of these tree-climbing workshops and fitness classes, Franklin Tree Service Experts aims to foster a greater appreciation for trees and their essential role in our daily lives. In addition, by providing an engaging and interactive outdoor experience, the company hopes to inspire a new generation of tree enthusiasts and advocates.
