Roswell Personal Injury Lawyer Offers Free Consultation

Atlanta, Georgia - May 15, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Atlanta, GA based Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. is pleased to share that a free consultation is being offered to Roswell residents who have been injured due to another party?s negligence. Clients of the firm will also appreciate that they will not have to pay any fees unless the firm wins their case.

Following an accident or other event that causes an injury, it is in the victim?s best interests to seek out a reputable personal injury attorney who can share guidance regarding their options. Given that the average person has little to no insight regarding personal injury law in Georgia, how a case may proceed or often even how to file a claim, the firm makes an effort to educate every client to a sufficient degree as early as possible (or as new information becomes relevant to their case).

This ensures that their clients are always able to make an informed decision at every stage. Since the firm?s initial consultation is free, virtually anyone can make use of this service to determine whether they have a strong chance of success if they were to file a claim for compensation.

?We want our community to trust in the fact that we will act aggressively on their behalf,? states a representative from the Roswell personal injury law firm. ?Therefore, it made sense to ensure our metrics for success aligned with that of our clients as closely as possible. Many firms will offer a free initial consultation to get you in the door, but they will still charge you for services rendered even in the event they fail. When you work with us, you can take it for granted that we expect to win.?

It is important for a firm to have a strong incentive to fight on a client?s behalf, explains the representative, because an insurance provider often has an incentive to do the opposite. While an insurance policy may cover a client?s injuries in full, the insurer in question is still a business ? and they tend to value profits above all else. As a result, it is not uncommon for a victim to be denied some or all of the compensation they are due.

This denial, however, is not the final word on the matter. It is possible to fight for the right amount in compensation, and everyone has a right to file a claim if they believe they have been wronged in this manner. However, the outcome of their case will depend on a number of factors, such as their ability to present evidence and advocate on their own behalf. Further, they should note that insurers often have their own team of lawyers whose sole duty is to protect their client. As such, a victim can give themselves the best chance of winning by working with a personal injury lawyer whose sole objective is to do the same for them.

?This was my first time ever using an attorney,? shares a client in their review of the firm, ?and I can truly say I was pleased with the outcome. From my case manager, Travis, to my attorney, Christopher, even the closing manager, Lindsay, [they] treated me exceptionally well. They're knowledgeable in their field, and I felt comfortable to trust that they had my best interests at heart. I would recommend them to everyone I know. Thank you, all.?

Another client confirms that, ?Christopher Adams and Lindsay Gallof made this easy. I?m not sure the insurance company would have ever made me an offer if I hadn?t made the (one) call to Ken Nugent. Sabrena, my case manager, called me regularly as promised to keep me informed. Plus, I felt good about working with local folks. A coworker used Ken years ago and had a positive experience, which is why I didn?t consider calling any other law firm. Also, Ken?s commercials seemed to be the most professional (my coworker was actually in one). I felt a huge weight lifted off of myself after I made the call. Thanks!?

The members of the team at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. are all a part of the community they serve, and they understand how vital it is for an injured party to get the full scope of compensation they deserve. These funds can help a victim rebuild their lives after a devastating injury, and the firm is ready to provide as many resources as necessary to ensure that every case they take on will have a successful outcome.

Clients are welcome to phone or email the firm directly to schedule a consultation. More information regarding the firm?s services can be found on the official Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. website.
