AutoLeap Now Supports a Direct Software Integration with TireHub

May 02, 2023

Toronto, Ontario - May 02, 2023 -
AutoLeap announced today its direct integration with TireHub, a renowned national tire distributor.

Shop owners using AutoLeap can now access TireHub?s inventory and place orders seamlessly within the software. This integration enables shop owners to quickly view relevant tires available based on vehicle tire sizes and lead time, add these tires to an estimate and place order for tires once customer approves - all from within Autoleap.

The integration also facilitates other advanced functionality to view inventory by location, view relevant freight charges where applicable and even track order delivery status.

?Our team is so excited about this partnership with TireHub,? said Rameez Ansari, co-founder and co-CEO of AutoLeap. ?This integration will have a major impact on AutoLeap users. Most importantly, it aligns with our mission of improving the management experience for busy shop owners.?

?Shop owners can now place their TireHub orders without ever leaving our software,? added Steve Lau, co-founder and co-CEO of AutoLeap. ?This integration will result in streamlined tire orders and bolstered shop inventories. It will also free up significant time, so they can focus on growing their businesses and enjoying important family moments.?

?TireHub?s partnership with AutoLeap provides not only our dealers' technology solutions to serve their customers faster but also automate their back-office operations,? said Ashok Vantipalli, CIO of TireHub. ?Our integration with AutoLeap allows us to better serve our dealers and the end consumer.?

Together, AutoLeap and TireHub will deliver innovative solutions and bridge existing gaps in the tire and aftermarket automotive industries.
